DETAILS: Lieutenant Governor Matt Denn will announce this year’s winners of his 3rd annual “Excellence in Parental Involvement Award.”

The Excellence in Parental Involvement award was created by Lt. Governor Denn as a way to honor schools and parents that have successfully expanded parental involvement through innovative programs. Media will learn more about these programs and their implementation at Thursday’s press conference.

The two schools that won this year’s award will be recognized at the annual Delaware State Chamber of Commerce Superstars in Education program on May 7th, receive banners for their schools, and have their programs publicized throughout the state so that other schools can emulate their successes.
