

Candle-dipping, classical music and Dutch-American Heritage Day to be featured at the museums of the state of Delaware in November 2013

✘ During the month of November 2013, the Delaware Division of Historical and Cultural Affairs will be offering 11 special programs at the state of Delaware's six museums. A full schedule of events is listed below. All programs are free and open to the public. For additional information, call 302-744-5055.

Highlights of the month include "Light Me Up!," an illuminating workshop on traditional candle-dipping that will take place on Saturday, Nov. 16, from 1 to 3 p.m., at Dover's John Dickinson Plantation. The workshop will explore candle-making techniques and lighting devices that would have been used during the 18th century when John Dickinson was in residence at the plantation. Visitors will have an opportunity to dip their own candles which can then be taken home. Admission to the event is free, but, due to space restrictions, reservations for the workshop are required by calling 302-739-3277 no later than Nov. 15, 2013.

On Saturday, Nov. 2, between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Dover's Johnson Victrola Museum will present "Classical Sounds From Victor," a series of guided tours exploring some of Victor Records' earliest recordings of classical music played on authentic Victor Talking Machines. The museum highlights the life and achievements of Delaware's native son, Eldridge Reeves Johnson, founder of the Victor Talking Machine Company which recorded many of the world's greatest classical musicians of the early 20th century including Arturo Toscanini, Sergei Rachmaninoff, Leopold Stokowski, Jascha Heifetz and countless others.

Finally, on Saturday Nov. 16 at 2 p.m., Lewes' Zwaanendael Museum will present "The Zwaanendael Settlement," a Dutch-American Heritage Day lecture in which Delaware Division of Historical and Cultural Affairs archaeologist Craig Lukezie Charles Fithian explores Swanendael, Delaware's first European settlement established by the Dutch in 1631.

Administered by the Division of Historical and Cultural Affairs, the six museums of the state of Delaware—the New Castle Court House Museum, the John Dickinson Plantation, the First State Heritage Park Welcome Center and Galleries, The Old State House, the Johnson Victrola Museum and the Zwaanendael Museum—tell the story of the First State's contributions to the history and culture of the United States. Through displays, exhibits and special programs, the museums explore how the state's distinctive physical environment, in combination with the people who came to live there, gave Delaware an identity that is different from any other place.
