

Smoking meats, hearth cooking, and candle making to be featured at Dover, Del.'s John Dickinson Plantation in September 2014

-Listing of plantation events through December 2014 also included-

During the month of September, Dover, Del.'s John Dickinson Plantation will present seven special programs that explore different aspects of everyday life as it would have been lived during the 18th century when John Dickinson was in residence at the property. Admission is free. For additional information, call 302-739-3277.

Historic-site interpreters outside the John Dickinson Plantation's smokehouse. Visitors will learn how to preserve meats during the "Smoked, Pickled and Salted for Survival" program on Sept. 27.

On Saturday, Sept. 27, the plantation will feature two programs. Between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., "Arts in the Estuary," a partnership with the St. Jones Reserve, will celebrate National Estuaries Day from the artistic viewpoint including the work of artisans, performers and authors. Between 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., the plantation will present "Smoked, Pickled and Salted for Survival," a program in which visitors will learn how smoked, pickled and salted meats helped stretch food reserves in the winter. Visitors will also participate in pickling meats with brine and smoking meats in the property's smokehouse. On Saturday, Sept. 20, between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., the site will present a hands-on workshop exploring hearth cooking; while on Thursdays, Sept. 11, 18 and 25, between 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., the plantation will present "Taper Thursdays," hands-on programs in which visitors will learn to make their own candles and help the plantation dip 200 candles that John Dickinson would have required from his tenants as part of their leases.

The John Dickinson Plantation was the boyhood home and country estate of John Dickinson, one of the founding fathers of the United States, signer of the U.S. Constitution and "Penman of the Revolution." The plantation features Dickinson's original 1740 brick home, reconstructed farm buildings and a log'd dwelling, surrounded by rich agricultural lands stretching down to the banks of the St. Jones River. Following is a schedule of plantation events through December 2014. All programs take place at the John Dickinson Plantation, 340 Kitts Hummock Road, Dover, Del. The property is open Wednesday to Saturday, 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Times for special programs are indicated. Admission is free for all events listed. For additional information, call 302-739-3277.
