Dover, DE – In his weekly message, Governor Markell unveiled a Fiscal Year 2017 state budget that invests in stronger schools and workforce training, innovation and infrastructure to spur economic growth, better health and a high quality of life.

“This past week I introduced a balanced budget that builds on our core values, most importantly making economic opportunity available for all Delawareans,” said Governor Markell. “I look forward to another year when we challenge ourselves to make our state stronger than ever – and to keep Delaware moving forward.”

Every week, the Governor's office releases a new Weekly Message in video, audio, and transcript form. The message is available on:
